30 Years of Artistry at Chanticleer

February 13 – March 11, 2023

Ethel Sergeant Clark Smith Gallery

Reception: Sunday, February 26, 3-5pm

Gallery Talk: Wednesday, March 8, 5-7pm

In celebration of Wayne Art Center's February 2023 exhibitions that recognize Radnor Township's talented artists, Wayne Art Center is pleased to present 30 Years of Artistry at Chanticleer, an exhibition celebrating the three decades that the gardens at Chanticleer have inspired and delighted visitors. In an exhibit showcasing over thirty decorative items from Chanticleer paired with paintings by invited Radnor Township artists, this exhibition showcases how Chanticleer and artistry go hand in hand.

Since Chanticleer's public opening in 1993, the staff have been practicing the art of gardening, developing an ever-changing garden that features staff-made decorative pieces to enhance the garden experience. Objects made by Chanticleer staff during the thirty years the Radnor garden has been open to the public are on view in this exhibition.

Chanticleer is a place of pleasure and creativity, as well as a place for deep thinking and study. To keep the garden fresh, Chanticleer staff are encouraged to develop talents in addition to their gardening vocation. Skills range from woodworking, metalworking, and stone-carving, to photography, painting, and videography. Imaginative benches, chairs, tables, bridge handrails, and plant list boxes are crafted to grace the garden, adding aesthetic and functional value to guests. The combined effect often inspires Chanticleer guests to create their own artwork. from 5-7pm. This talk to free and open to the public.

30 Years of Artistry at Chanticleer is on display in the Ethel Sergeant Clark Smith Gallery at Wayne Art Center from February 13-March 11, 2023. This exhibition is co-featured along with Expressions of Radnor and the Color of Music, Improvisations by Chris Niedland. The public is invited to attend the opening reception for all exhibitions on Sunday, February 26 from 4-5 pm

A Gallery Talk with Chanticleer staff will take place at Wayne Art Center on March 8 from 5-7pm. This talk to free and open to the public.
